OPERATIONS CHECKED A BIT

Paris Statement Says Enemy is Sacrificing so Many Men Offensive Will Have to be Given Up.

(By United Press.)

Paris, Oct. 3.—The allied left continues to encounter the most desperate resistance from the heavily reinforced German right, which is utilizing every available man in the effort to prevent the turning movement being satisfactorily completed. The result has been a slight check to the operations on the northwest of the battle line. At no point, however, the official statements declare, have the Germans penetrated the French lines although they made several separate assaults at various points along the front during the last night and were continuing their efforts to-day.

The allies, however, are constantly being reinforced as it is realized that the present desperate series of assaults are final efforts of the Germans to transform defeat into victory. They are sacrificing so many men, it is asserted that their offensive can not much longer be maintained.

The official review of the battle of the Aisne, issued at 3:05 this afternoon, confirms the report that the Germans failed in their night attack last night when they tried to break through the French left in the vicinity of Roye and between there and Lassigny. It states that the Germans were heavily reinforced but that they have been unable to penetrate the French lines and that they have again been repulsed with loss.

The official communiqué also declares that an attempt on the part of the army of the Crown Prince to slip through the French lines in the vicinity of the forest of Grunrie failed. The French attacked and drove the enemy back at this point.

Generally speaking the situation in the centre is described as unchanged while constant progress is being made by the French in the Woervre district.

"Spiritual Growth" will be the subject of the sermon at the First Baptist church Sunday morning. Other services will be held as usual, with the exception of the night meeting.

Big United Press Line-Up will Give Republican News of World Series

As a client of the United Press, the Daily Republican will be able to furnish an "all star" cast of writers for the world's series baseball games which opens next Friday, the ninth of October, in Philadelphia. The first two games will be played there and the opponents will be the Philadelphia Americans and the Boston Nationals, winners of the pennants in the respective big leagues. The United Press offers the greatest world's series service in the history of the game. The United Press line-up is capable of showing everything from "inside baseball" and speed, to poetry. At the top of the batting order is:

HUGH FULLERTON: Inventor of "inside baseball" and one of the greatest students of the game in the country. Fullerton will write daily an analytical, inside story of each game of the series. This story will be handled on the leased wire in the morning after the game.

HAL SHERIDAN: Assisted by a staff of experienced baseball writers, will handle the running story of the games as the general news stories.

The running story of each game will carry the balls and strikes of each man while at bat and the complete play by play detailed description.

BERTON BRADLEY: Whose "verified prose" stories of the games last year made such a hit with the fans, has felt the baseball muse calling. He is in the United Press line-up again and the service will carry daily one of the Bradley verse stories.

GERMAN RETREAT AT EVERY POINT

TWO AUTOS SKID IN FRESH GRAVEL

Review by Russians Says Enemy Has Lost 60,000 in Killed, Wounded and Prisoners.

IN LAST FORTNIGHT ALONE

Battle of Cracow is Now in Its Initial Stages—Germans Have 750,000 Men on Field.

Petrograd, Oct. 3.—In a review of the recent operations in Russian Poland issued by the war office today it is stated that at every point the Germans have been forced to retreat.

The war office estimates that the total losses to the Germans in these operations which have extended over the last fortnight will reach 60,000 in killed, wounded and prisoners. In addition it is stated that the Russians have captured a number of German guns and rapid firers mounted on motors.

The war office declares that with the Germans in full retreat from the vicinity of the Niemen and from Suwalki province, and with the Austrians retreating in Galicia, the original first plan of the Russian general staff has been successfully carried out. The plan provided that the Russian right wing was to crush the Germans, the left wing to crush the Austrians and that then all were to combine for a general offensive movement which would compel the Germans to accept battle southwest of the Polish frontier and at a point nearest to Berlin. As a consequence the million Russian troops that have been held in reserve in mobilization centre at Warsaw have begun their advance. They have already forced the Germans to withdraw from the vicinity of Lodz and Kalish and are now driving the entire German line toward the Gracow battle line.

The highest military authorities declare that a Russian victory in the battle, now beginning, will force Germany to seek peace terms. The battle of Cracow, as it will probably be called, is still in the initial stages. The Russian outposts have engaged the Austrian-German line along the Donajeo river, just west of Tarnow, which forms a natural barrier flowing almost directly north and south 34 miles east of Cracow. The battle line extends to the foothills of the Carpathian mountains and flows over into the Russian Poland north of the Vistula river, where the Austrians and German lines are in contact.

Roughly speaking the new line of the Germans, which is designed to withstand the entire Russian advance, follows the river Wartha, where the Germans have constructed strong entrenchments. It is only about 30 miles inside of the Russian frontier. The Austro-German right flank is centered on Cracow while the left extends to the fortress of Posen. The entire line is strongly held, it being estimated that the German forces alone number at least 750,000 men, while additional troops are constantly arriving.

Lon Ellison has his new barn, one of the largest in the county, completed. Mike McDonald was the builder.

WATSON TO SPEAK SUNDAY

First Opportunity to Hear Him Here in Several Years.

James E. Watson will address a union meeting of the churches Sunday evening at 7 o'clock at the St. Paul's M. E. church in observance of peace day asked by the president. He should have a large hearing as it will be the first time Mr. Watson has addressed a public meeting outside of a political gathering for a number of years here. He consented after being urged by his friends. Mr. Watson has repeatedly refused to address chautauqua audiences and speak at other public meetings. "One True Basis of Lasting Peace," will be his subject.

CLARENCE MATLOCK DIES IN ARIZONA

Rushville Boy Expires of Tuberculosis at Tucson Today After Five Years Fight.

TOOK SICK WHILE IN PURDUE

Clarence Matlock, age twenty-four years, son of Mr. and Mrs. Noah Matlock of Jersey City, died at Tucson, Arizona, of tuberculosis at one-thirty o'clock this morning, according to a message received here at ten o'clock this morning. He has been afflicted with the disease for five years and the last four years he has been in Arizona. He received a blow over the heart in the Purdue tank scrap while a student at Purdue university, which caused him to have heart trouble and later tuberculosis developed.

Mr. Matlock would have been twenty-five years old the eighteenth of next month. He was born and reared here and was graduated from the Rushville high school in 1908. In the fall of 1908 he entered Purdue and had started on his second year when he was compelled to quit because of failing health.

Mr. Matlock has not been so well the last two weeks, but this morning just before the death message was received, a letter reached here that was most encouraging. Word had been received of his condition every day. He is survived by his parents, a sister, Miss Florence Matlock of this city and a brother, Ernest Matlock, of Lansing, Michigan. He had another brother, Tom Matlock, who died of tuberculosis at Phoenix, Arizona, three years ago.

GRACE PETTIS WINS CASE

Is Granted Divorce From Charles Pettis in Court Today.

Judge Megee this morning granted Mrs. Grace Pettis a divorce from Charles Pettis. The case was heard about two weeks ago and taken under advisement. Mrs. Pettis is given the custody of their two children and he is ordered to pay to the clerk of the circuit court the sum of two dollars every Monday morning for her support. According to the ruling of the court, the payments were to start September 28. Pettis, who is a local barber, did not appear against his wife in the suit.

TELL TALES ON THE DEMOCRATS

Two Bull Moose Speakers Here Friday Night Explain Why They Left Party of Tom Taggart.

TAKE HOMER COOK TO TASK

Candidate For Secretary of State Says He is Not Running For Office But Party Principles.

William A. Pierson, of New Albany, Progressive candidate for secretary of state in Indiana, and J. W. Fitch of South Bend, divided honors on a double bill at the Bull Moose speaking in the assembly room of the court house last night. There were about a hundred and fifty persons present, a few of whom were Republicans and Democrats.

Both speakers formerly were Democrats who have deserted the standards of Tom Taggart and Crawford Fairbanks for the new party. Their speeches were largely a tirade on the Democratic party. They took the Democratic party to task so much that some of the Democrats in the audience couldn't stand it any longer; they had to get up and leave.

Mr. Pierson, who was the second man up, declared that he left the Democratic party because he could not stand the bosses. He decried the fact that Tom Taggart and Crawford Fairbanks, the Terre Haute brewer, have the power to dictate how the party shall be run and who shall be on its tickets. He asked who Tom Taggart is and then answered the question by saying that he was none other than just a man who runs the Monte Carlo of Indiana.

The Bull Moose candidate said his party was not a party, but a movement. In one breath he declared that the Republican party would not be a factor in the campaign and in the next breath that the Democratic party will be wiped off the map, never to be returned to power in Indiana. Mr. Pierson asserted that he was not running for office but for the principles of the Progressive party.

During the course of his speech, he referred to the fact that the Democratic state administration had borrowed $685,000 in the last few months to pay the current expenses of the state. He recalled that they were paying a rate of five and a half per cent, which was equal to a hundred dollars a day. He also called attention to the fact that the state administration had ordered all county treasurers to settle with the state once a month so they would have a constant stream of gold pouring into

EVIDENCE FROM DICTOGRAPH USED

New Angle Brought to Bear in Arson Trial of Taylor Roberts of Charlottesville at Anderson.

TESTIMONY ABOUT A THREAT

Dictograph evidence said to have been taken at the home of Mrs. Marie Wright in Marion, was introduced yesterday in the arson trial of Taylor Roberts, an aged Charlottesville man who is on trial in Anderson on a charge of having attempted to burn a house owned by him in Alexandria in order to defraud an insurance company. Mrs. Wright, a detective in the employ of the state fire marshal, occupied the witness stand a greater part of yesterday. She testified that Roberts, who believed she was aiding his defense, had told her all about his attempt to burn the house in Alexandria. She asserted that Roberts told her not longer ago than Tuesday that he would kill anybody who testified against him and that should he be sent to the state prison his son probably would occupy the adjoining cell for murdering the person who convicted the father. She expressed herself as being afraid of the Robertses. Fire Marshal W. E. Longly took no chances of having his star witness interfered with, but hustled her to Alexandria each evening in an automobile, where she boarded a car for her home in Marion. In the morning she was met at Alexandria by an automobile.

WINS PRIZES AT TRI-STATE FAIR

John F. Boyd Takes Thirteen Firsts, Three Seconds and Five Championships at Memphis.

EXHIBITS AGAINST 10 HERDS

John F. Boyd, well known fancier of Jersey cattle, continues to "clean up" with his prize herd. This week at the Tri-State fair at Memphis, Tenn., Mr. Boyd captured thirteen firsts, three seconds and five championships with his herd of Jerseys. The showing of Mr. Boyd is more remarkable because of the fact that he was exhibiting against ten other herds with over one hundred head of cattle.

Mr. Boyd carried off the following championships: Jolly Lads Jubilee, champion junior bull; Togo Lad, champion senior bull; Oxford Lad's Sensation, champion cow; Oxford Lad's Sensation, grand champion cow; Jolly Lad's Jubilee, grand champion bull. Mr. Boyd will take the herd to Waterloo, Ia., next week and then will exhibit at the National Dairy show in Chicago on October 28. He will hold his sale in Chicago on October 29.

Good Things Never Sell Below Par

But many an inferior article is sold for twice its worth. This is especially so in vehicles. Very few dealers sell buggies at one price to all. We do and everybody pays the same. That is the reason our buggies are lower priced than our competitors. We have but one price and it has to be low enough to impress our customers and get the business. We want you to see our storm buggies. They are the best that can be bought and we believe we have the only door that can not and will not rattle. You can not find a better storm buggy with a better reputation for road service or a finer looking one than we have but you can find higher priced ones that simply mean more profit tacked on. Be guided by these facts rather than led by false hopes and when you get ready for a storm buggy we want to show you the best line you ever looked at and at a price that represents value received. You will eventually buy your buggies of Spivey. Why not start now?

ZAPATA WILL NOT JOIN WITH VILLA

Southern Mexican Revolutionist

Says Foe of Huerta is With a Reactionary Crowd.

(By United Press.)

Washington, Oct. 3.—Reports that Zapata will not join Villa against Carranza were received at Constitutionalists headquarters today. One report declared that Zapata's representative made this statement after conferring with Villa in Chihuahua.

"Zapata will not join Villa because Angeles and many federals, together with the Huertistas and other reactionary elements, are joining Villa. They will soon control him and use him as a tool," said the statement. With a battle imminent between the forces of General Mayforena and General Hill at Naco, Sonora, within sight of the border of Arizona, the war department today issued orders to patrol officers that no Mexican should be permitted on American soil.

SAGE TEA TURNS GRAY HAIR DARK

It's Grandmother's recipe to bring color, lustre and thickness to hair when faded, streaked or gray.

That beautiful, even shade of dark, glossy hair can only be had by brewing a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray, streaked and looks dry, wispy and scraggly, just an application or two of Sage and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundredfold.

Don't bother to prepare the tonic; you can get from any drug store a 50 cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," ready to use. This can always be depended upon to bring back the natural color, thickness and lustre of your hair and remove dandruff, stop scalp itching and falling hair.

Everybody uses "Wyeth's" Sage and Sulphur because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair has disappeared, and after another application it becomes beautifully dark and appears glossy, lustrous and abundant.

Why not now?

A Favorite Theme

It is a favorite theme of the Progressive spellbinders to attempt to ridicule the Republican party and fool the people into believing that the Republican party will not be a factor in the coming campaign. Of course, the speakers all take their cue from Albert J. Beveridge and his political handbill, the Indianapolis Star. If they were not getting their cue from him, most certainly they would not be on the ticket, because A. J. Beveridge, even his most ardent admirers will not deny, runs the whole show when he runs at all.

The dominate note of the Bull Moose speakers here last night, whenever they mentioned the Republican party, which was seldom, was ridicule. But, of course, that matters little to the fellow who is going to vote for bread with the butter side up. It matters little to the fellow who sees no use in paying a "war-in-time-of-peace" tax. The Bull Moose barnstormers may go on.

But it must require more nerve than it seems possible to muster together in the body of one individual to stand before an audience composed of intelligent persons and declare that the Republican party is not a factor in this campaign. People are not the brainless fools some of the Bull Moose spellbinders may think. They read occasionally nowadays. They have heard from the return in scores of registrations, special elections, state and county primaries, regular elections and other votes in which the people expressed their will.

The latest one of these is the primary in New York. Men may lie, you know, but figures go right on telling the truth regardless. The Bull Moose vote there showed the same heavy slump that it has elsewhere since 1912. Even with two candidates for the gubernatorial nomination, one of whom was Sulzer, the former Democrat who was expected to pull some votes because of his demagogic appeals, the falling off was great.

How Democrats hereabouts who have been trying to pump the breath of life in the Bull Moose party must feel this morning! It was heart rending to hear two former Democrats, now professed members of a "movement," swat the poor old donkey coming and going. This, indeed, is poor return for the street corner Democratic politicians who have been espousing the cause of the Bull Moose party in most liberal terms, not that they have any love for the Bull Moose party, but because they, although slow to realize the fact, know that the Bull Moose party is the key to their success. Furthermore, they know there can be no hope in electing a Democratic road supervisor unless the Bull Moose banner is kept unfurled and waving even though the number of hands to do the waving is growing less day by day.

William A. Pierson of New Albany, candidate for secretary of state on the Bull Moose ticket, who spoke here last night, says he is not running for the office, but for the principles of his party. It's nice of him to be so easily satisfied because he would be most mightily disappointed if he were doing what everyone supposed him to be doing—running for office.

the thing he represents. He said it was a movement. Once again he's right, but this year the movement seems to be in the wrong direction.

The one-time Democrats ought to know about the Tom Taggart-Crawford Fairbanks machine in Indiana. They have been hitched up with it. The two former Democrats who spoke here last night heaped calumny on the heads of the members of the Democratic state administration in such large hunks that Democrats in the audience were unable to stay longer. They had to retire in disorder.

wounds were again bleeding. It is not known whether he is injured internally. No bones were broken.

The machine was badly smashed, the lights and wind shield being torn off, the radiator badly damaged and the steering wheel torn off. The accident happened so quickly that both men can scarcely tell how it occurred.

About the time this accident occurred Buford Winship, of a local garage, met with a similar mishap near the Kennedy farm, northeast of the city. Winship hit some fresh gravel and the machine turned turtle. He escaped injury with the exception of a cut on one of his hands and arms. The windshield was smashed, but otherwise the machine was not damaged.

MARY CLINE, AGE 80 YEARS, IS DEAD

Expires at Her Home in North Harrison Street Today of Ulcer of the Bowels.

SHE LEAVES TWO CHILDREN

Mrs. Mary Cline, 80 years old, mother of Orange O. Felt, died this morning at nine o'clock at her home in North Harrison street, after an illness of several weeks from an ulcer of the bowels and a complication of diseases. Mrs. Cline was taken seriously ill four weeks ago and for some time her death has been expected. Mrs. Cline was well known having been a resident of this city for a number of years. She was a member of the Christian church.

Besides her son, Orange Felt, she is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Mattie McNeil, and one brother, Robert Parker. The funeral services will be conducted Monday afternoon at two o'clock at the late residence by the Rev. C. M. Yocom and burial will take place in East Hill cemetery.

PROPOSED WAR TAX DENOUNCED

Senator Smith Pays Special Attention to Planned Taxing of Automobile Industry.

ONLY ONE THAT IS THRIVING

(By United Press.) Washington, Oct. 3.—Denouncing the proposed war tax on auto horsepower as a "deficiency raid" upon those industries which "are still prosperous despite the Democratic administration," Senator Smith of Michigan today made a vigorous protest and demanded that auto manufacturers be given a hearing. He said the auto tax as now proposed would take $14,000,000 from one city in Michigan.

He denounced the Democrats on the finance committee for meeting behind closed doors and presented telegrams from a dozen auto manufacturers in Michigan protesting against the tax and urging that a hearing be given them.

Bull Moose Candidate Pierson said at the political meeting here last night that party was a misnomer for

DAMAGE SUIT JURY FINALLY DISAGREE

Case of S. H. Murphy Against T. H.

I & E. Will Have to be Tried Third Time—Second a Failure.

JURY OUT OVER SIX HOURS

As was expected the jury trying the case of Samuel Murphy against the Terre Haute, Indianapolis and Eastern Traction company failed to reach a verdict and was discharged by Judge Megee. The jury was out for over six hours and at four-thirty o'clock yesterday afternoon reported to the court that it was impossible to reach a decision.

It is understood that the jury stood eight to four for the plaintiff, and that something like fifteen ballots were taken. This was the standing all the way through. This is the second time that a jury has failed to reach a verdict in this case, the first being in Henry county. It is not known when the case will be tried again. Murphy demanded $11,200 for injuries sustained in a grade crossing accident in Straughns alleging negligence on the part of the traction company.

RIGHT TO POWER EMINENT DOMAIN

Special Judge Innis Holds This in Finding For Fairview Burial Ground Association.

THE CASE WILL BE APPEALED

Samuel Innis acting as special judge, found for the Fairview Burial Ground Association on its petition for the appraisement of grounds for cemetery purposes against John F. Smelser, and appointed John M. Stiers, Lon Mull and Cassius King as appraisers and ordered them to report in five days.

It is hardly likely however that the report of the appraisers will be made at that time because B. F. Miller, attorney for Smelser, will appeal the case and in the meantime will probably file an injunction against the appraisement.

Special Judge Innis made his finding on a special finding of facts submitted by both sides and in giving his decision held that the Burial Ground Association was entitled to the power of eminent domain. Hall and Campbell represent the petitioners.

HAS STRAWBERRIES.

Indiana grown strawberries in October. Seems like an impossibility but Ben A. Cox has some ripe strawberries on the vines at his home in North Perkins street. The plants are in full bloom and on some are ripe strawberries. It is the second crop this year and is considered very remarkable. The warm weather late in September and continuing now is thought to be responsible for the vines bearing fruit.

ROMANIA OFFERED TWO PROVINCES

If She Will Participate in War, Russia Will Give Her Some Austrian Territory.

WILL BE DECIDED NEXT WEEK

(By United Press.)

Bucharest, Rumania, Oct. 3.—It was announced officially today that Russia has offered Rumania the Austrian provinces of Bukovina and Transylvania as a reward for her participation in the present war on the side of the allies. The consideration is that the entire Rumanian army be thrown into action immediately and that the Rumanians themselves conquer Transylvania, Bukovina having already been partly occupied by the Russians.

If Rumania participates she will have the assistance of the Russian general staff. The question will be decided at a meeting of the crown council summoned to meet early next week.

The sentiment for participation in the war on the side of Russia is almost universal. As a result King Carol who is a Holienzollern and sympathizes with Germany, has been overcome with serious illness and is now confined to his bed in the summer palace at Sinaja. It is believed that the king will abdicate if the crown council decides to accept the Russian proposal.

TENNIS TEAMS MEET TODAY

Connersville and Rushville Clash on North Main Street Court.

The Connorsville and Rushville high schools met at tennis at two-thirty this afternoon on the north Main street courts. Pinkerton and Trussler were on the court to uphold the honor of Connorsville and Ralph Hackleman and William Sexton composed the team which represented Rushville. The contest was to be decided by three best out of five sets. The Rushville team has been practicing diligently and had hopes of taking the contest. The court was used through the courtesy of Jack Burres.

Health--How to Preserve It Disease--How to Prevent It

Prepared for the United Press by Dr. J. N. Hurty State Health Commissioner

(Dr. Hurty will answer questions on prevention of disease, hygiene and sanitation. Questions requiring a personal answer cannot be considered. To avoid delay, address all questions direct to the UNITED PRESS ASSOCIATION, 36½ West Washington St., Indianapolis. Questions may be sent to THE DAILY REPUBLICAN if preferred.)

We do it because we are impractical in this matter. Well, the German child, being first put onto the straight road to health, is kept on the road. His physical well being is assiduously attended to. He goes to school in a sanitary school house. His school room is properly lighted, well ventilated, clean, evenly warmed, and provided with an abundance of pure drinking water, and above all is provided with clean, inviting water closets where he can decently obey the calls of nature.

We fail in sixty-five percent of our school houses in Indiana in these regards. We call our failure economy. It is really stupid extravagance. Here is the formula by which sturdy, efficient Germans are made. A well born child, plus medical inspection, plus sanitary school houses, plus continuous intelligent attention to its health, equals a weakling.

When will we become sufficiently practical to first make the child a good animal? A Mother, New Castle writes:—"Should I insist that my boy stop playing football? He loves the game, but I fear its dangers overbalance its benefits."

Reply—Have your boy examined by a good physician. If his heart is not right he should not play football, except to such a degree as the doctor directs. If you fear "its dangers overbalance its benefits" investigate carefully and see if your fears are well founded. If they are, act accordingly.

Interest in Indiana Centers on Wabash-Purdue Game at Lafayette Purdue Should Win.

NO CHANCE FOR I.U. AT CHICAGO

Butler Hopes for Easy Win Over Georgetown and Notre Dame Should Walk Over Alma

BY TOAD ELLIS
(Written for United Press.)

Indianapolis, Oct. 3.—No quivering beauty of the stone age ever watched her hairy, hammer-fisted, pet bruiser twisting lion tails and jackrolling guerrillas with more pride and pleasure than the coeds of Wabash, Purdue, Earlham and Butler saw their so-called warriors march onto the field of battle this afternoon prepared to rend their opponents limb from limb, maybe. This was the first day of the 1914 football season that Indiana maidens have had an opportunity to see this spectacle—those at Indiana alone excepted.

Wabash was scheduled for a trimming at Purdue; Earlham was face to face with an appalling proposition in the person of Wittenberg, ancient rival from Ohio, and Butler needs must face Georgetown from Ky. Depauw is ideal, having done its share in meeting Indiana and Michigan within the space of five days. Indiana plays Chicago, going to almost certain defeat by a comfortable score—for Chicago. Rose plays Eastern Illinois State Normal at Charleston. Notre Dame should win easily from Alma. Hanover and Franklin are idle.

Interest centered today in the Wabash venture against the powerful boilermakers. With the Little Giants on the wane and their opponents growing stronger, there were few who thought Wabash would have a look-in. The game will be of most interest as an indication of just how weak Wabash is, anyway, and of what sort of defense Handsome Smith can build up with Oliphant absent.

With Earlham's disastrous season last year in mind, there was little hope that the Ohio invaders could be repelled with more than an even break, and it was believed the Quakers would be lucky to get that. The question devolves largely upon whether Earlham's new coach can make bricks without straw.

Butler was comparatively confident today that with her strong line and fast backfield—still an untried combination of new and old men—she could defeat Georgetown. But Georgetown, in common with most other out-of-state teams, is an unknown quantity, and it would be folly to make a guess. Rose went up against much the same proposition with the Illinois teachers, and Earlham was in the same boat.

The most remarkable development of the past week was DePauw's strength. Known to be very strong yet there had been no opportunity prior to the Indiana game to see just what the Methodists had. DePauw will try to sweep the platter clean as far as the secondary colleges and the I. C. A. L. go. It is fortunate that the Greencastle school has a complete schedule. When November 27 rolls around it probably will be possible to determine through DePauw not only the championship of the secondary schools, but also their rating with schools of the same class in Illinois and Missouri, for DePauw plays Lake Forest and Christian Brothers of St. Louis.

From this angle it appears that Indiana hasn't a chance in the world to slip one over on the wiley Stagg. The Maroons are too strongly entrenched behind tradition and their eminent strategist has the situation too well in hand to allow for a surprise. Stagg may want to win by two touchdowns and he may want to win by four.

HOLLAND BITTER AGAINST J. BULL

Feeling Grows Because of British Interference With the Dutch Shipping Business.

CARGOES OF FOODSTUFFS HELD

Hollanders Generally Present Concessions Their Government Was Compelled to Make.

Rotterdam, Oct. 3.—There is growing bitterness of feeling throughout Holland against England because of her interference with Dutch shipping and her holding up of cargoes of foodstuffs and needed supplies, such as a copperhead. This feeling is not pro-German, but it is frankly anti-British. Although it is reported that an arrangement has been made between England, the United States and Holland whereby foodstuffs are no longer to be held up, Hollanders generally resent the concessions their government was compelled to make and especially the fact that they were compelled to place themselves under obligations to England in order to prevent complete paralysis of the Dutch trade.

Every ship that sails to or from Holland is being held up by the British and French fleets and ransacked from stem to stern. Charges are made that the international mails are interfered with, although up to the present these allegations have not been officially endorsed by the Dutch government. While the Queen and court circles have been inclined to sympathize with the German cause, the plain Dutch Burghers have been and still are, frankly anti-German. They look upon Belgium's fate as what can be expected for Holland if England wins the war. But England's action in carrying the "right of search" to the present extreme has absolutely annihilated all sympathies with her in Holland.

All of the facts of the holding up of the Holland-American liners enroute from New York and Philadelphia are only becoming known here now. The Dutch national pride has been badly hurt by learning that when a British commander took possession of the Noordam and took that vessel into Queenstown harbor he ordered the captain down from his own bridge. Even Englishmen here declare that this was a "conspicuous example of disregard for ethics and tactlessness." There is much wonder here as to what will be the result when similar tactics are followed by British warship commanders toward American crewmen. They look upon Belgium's fate as what can be expected for Holland if England wins the war. But England's action in carrying the "right of search" to the present extreme has absolutely annihilated all sympathies with her in Holland.

Fitch charged that Cook knew those bills were indefinitely postponed when he sent them to the governor for signature. He declared that Governor Ralston was a coward, with no backbone and afraid not to do the bidding of those who controlled him, else he would tell the truth.

about the bills. In his keynote speech in Indianapolis in which he attempted to offer an explanation for the illegal passage of the measurer, Fitch declared Ralston said they were not bad bills and that since they had not done any harm, what was the use to worry about it. Fitch declared it was not the nature of the bills, but the method employed that he condemned. By the same token, he declared, a man accused of stealing a horse might use in his defense the fact that a man in an adjoining county also stole a horse.

Fitch recalled that when the revelations were first made about the bills being illegally passed, that Governor Ralston called the persons responsible "consummate scoundrels" and said he hoped they would be punished. Fitch said he was asking the Democrats wherever he spoke if it would not be embarrassing for Cook if he is elected to administer the affairs of the state behind the bars at Michigan City.

"Home Cook is the one man who can explain how those bills were passed," declared Fitch. Mr. Fitch mentioned further that the state records show Taggart's body servant, Charles Washington, received ten dollars a day in the last legislature for shining shoes and brushing coats while our representatives got six dollars a day. He said he didn't blame Charles Washington any and that probably he came nearer being worth what he got than some of the legislators.

Mr. Fitch professed to have some inside knowledge about President Wilson's thoughts and declared that Wilson didn't mean it when he endorsed Shively for re-election. He said Wilson did not want Shively back in the senate because he knew that Albert J. Beveridge would be a bigger help to the administration.

Mr. Fitch recalled Homer Cook's address when he was elected speaker of the house of representatives of the last state legislature. Cook is now Democratic candidate for secretary of state who is accused of being responsible for the enactment into laws of bills never passed by the legislature. He said Cook, in that speech, advised Democrats to follow that famous progressive leader, Tom Taggart.

Fitch charged that Cook knew those bills were indefinitely postponed when he sent them to the governor for signature. He declared that Governor Ralston was a coward, with no backbone and afraid not to do the bidding of those who controlled him, else he would tell the truth.

WOMAN WEAK AND NERVOUS

Finds Health in Lydia E.
Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Creston, Iowa.—"I suffered with female troubles from the time I came into womanhood until I had taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I would have pains if I overworked or lifted anything heavy, and I would be so weak and nervous and in so much misery that I would be prostrated. A friend told me what your medicine had done for her and I tried it. It made me strong and healthy and our home is now happy with a baby boy. I am very glad that I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and do all I can to recommend it."—Mrs. A. B. BOSCAMB, 504 E. Howard Street, Creston, Iowa.

Tons of Roots and Herbs are used annually in the manufacture of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which is known from ocean to ocean as the standard remedy for female ills.

For forty years this famous root and herb medicine has been pre-eminently successful in controlling the diseases of women. Merit alone could have stood this test of time.

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., (Confidential) Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

Smart Purses of Season Are Made of Soft Taffeta, Moire or Brocade

BY MARGARET MASON.
(Written for United Press.)

Perse has a pretty purse
Filled with powder-puff and many
Fancy little female fads,
But of coin there isn't any,
For to get this pretty purse,
Perse paid a pretty penny.

New York, Oct. 3.—Who steals my purse, steals trash, is indeed a base libel on the newest bag models now seen on every hand. No modern poet would dare thus to hold up the new reticule to ridicule. Not a single leather bag is glised among the really smart ones all being of softest taffeta, moire or brocade.

The accepted shapes are either square or oval, the longest part of the oval either running across or up and down to suit ones personal choice. The tops, or frames of yore that used to expose their metal identity are now almost always covered with the same material which makes the bag. An inch-and-a-half wide strap of the same material also serves as a handle in lieu of the erstwhile cord or chain.

The linings of the new bags are all of the softest silk or satin in charming colors and with tiny pockets in which nestle the necessary mirror, powder puff and other toilet accessories, as well as a coin purse and a card case.

While the inside of the bag typifies necessity, the outside goes to the other extreme to signify luxury with exquisite insets of head work tassels of silk or beads as a finish, and clasps composed of tiny balls of crystal or else of colored imitation gems to carry out the scheme of the silk material.

Quite the newest and most piquant touch, however, is an inch-wide plaque of crystal rimmed in enamel with an enamel monogram in the centre the same shade as the jewel-clasps or the color of the bag. This dainty proclamation of ones identity hangs suspended on a tiny silver chain an inch in length from the top of the frame.

Balls of polished tortoise shell are often seen as clasps instead of the crystal and colored glass, and as other garnishing of feminine charms tortoise shell is coming into great vogue. With its rich brown and amber mottling it has been fashioned into stunning bracelets and drop earrings mounted in filigree gold. Of course, as the huge Spanish combs and the newest curved back combs that fit into the side of the French twist, tortoise shell is most in its element, since everybody knows about "the hare and the tortoise."

These new combs curved to fit the back of the head as they are thrust crossways into the French twist are decidedly attractive, as well as useful. The most artistic style is composed of five leaf shape projections of varying length. Then there are fan shaped ones and fern shaped ones, and conciets without end.

For evening wear they are shown edged in rhinestones. The high Spanish combs of elaborate design are very smart worn thrust squarely in the top of the Coiffure or coquettishly sideways at the crown of the head. The exclusive woman will do well to keep these latest comb fashions under her hat, however, for too much popularity will kill their charms.

The laced high shoes are certainly an accepted fact. All the smart boot shops are showing them, and they are most ornate with colored cloth tops and colored laces. A combination of black and white shows the lower part of the shoe in black patent kid, the top of white cloth with a narrow band of black patent kid around the top and down both sides of the opening, which is laced with white laces. Black and white striped stockings are to be worn with this effect.

Like last season's high shoe, the cloth tops are shaped to simulate spats. Novel hosiery also affects the different colored top, and a respectable black or lunlike drab becomes a riot of scarlet or equally lively shade above the calf. However as they are above the knee that may possibly be classified as high toned rather than loud.

The new neckwear all shows the tendency toward the high collar even among the roll collars which now fasten primly close up to the collar bone. As the collars get higher and tighter they also get fussier and fancier and farther away from the comfortable simplicity of the summer collars. Some of the more elaborate even have an edging of white ostrich feather fronds, and most of them are developed from chiffon, satin charmeuse, net, lace or crepe de chine instead of the plainer lawns and organdies.

feller foundation is deliberately attempting to grapple with what it believes to be the most complication and at the same time the most urgent question of modern times and it is for this reason that investigation has been started. That the investigation is not baffled by the knowledge that the task has seemed hitherto well nigh hopeless and that the literature on the subject is to vast as to be overwhelming. There may be reasons for patient approach of the subject but not reason for inaction. It is hoped that an investigation started on the scale of what the foundation is capable and impartially pursued will gradually win for itself the cooperation not alone of employers and working men of industrial organizations, of individuals and institutions interested in social reform, but also of universities and governments throughout the world.

"In no sense will the investigation be local or restricted or carried on with particular reference to any existing situation or for that matter, with reference to conditions in any one country. The experience of the several countries of the world will be drawn upon. In the words of the charter of the foundation, it is intended 'for the well-being of mankind throughout the world' and the means taken to further this end, both as regards the subjects to be investigated and the methods of inquiry will be in keeping with the purpose expressed.

"In main, the investigation is to be carried on after the manner of the Institute for Medical Research. The root of the social disorder which the foundation acknowledge exists today is, it is stated, to be probed to the bottom, systematically and scientifically. It will be sought to disclose the cause of the "bitter enmities and destruction tendencies" between capital and labor and to "find means of promoting harmonious, united action between the two great bodies."

In announcing the investigation, the foundation says:

"In facing the problem, the Rocke-

WILL BE ISSUED IN PARTS

As previously announced in these columns, The Daily Republican has arranged to supply its readers with an accurate and complete book of the world's greatest war on an attractive plan which will appeal to every reader. A large illustrated section consisting of forty pages printed on enamel paper will be issued every two weeks, and part one is now ready for distribution.

Every man, woman and child will want every one of these parts as they are issued, for the true story of this mighty conflict must now become a part of one's education. To show that you are a reader of this paper, clip a coupon and get the first section of the great war story.

No such timely offer was ever made before. The war was largely started and there was just time to untangle the true story from the mass of conflicting reports, when this first part was brought fresh from the press to supply the wants of our readers.

The entire work will consist of a running narrative of the war itself, an account of the military and naval operations by which the fighting nations of Europe undertake to balance their long accounts, and all will be illustrated in a sumptuous manner such as has never before been done with a work of this character.

Save your coupons and present them as soon as possible. The War Book Coupon is printed daily in another column.

DESTINY HAD BIG PART IN WAR

William Dudley Foulke Says Austria Was Only Great Power Wanting to Take up Arms

SERVIA THE SHARP THORN

Germany Could Have Exerted Pressure to Modify Terms of Ultimatum But Did Not do so

Richmond, Ind., Oct. 3.—A decree of destiny, not the conscious purpose of Russia or Germany, caused the war now on in Europe, according to William Dudley Foulke, president of the National Municipal League, who returned recently from Germany, where he was when the war began. Foulke says only Austria of all the great powers wanted war. He says:

BY WILLIAM DUDLEY FOULKE
(Written for United Press)

The events which immediately preceded the present European war seem to me more like the working out of the decrees of destiny than as revealing a conscious purpose on the part of either Germany or Russia to drive all Europe into this struggle. There was indeed one nation that wanted war and was bound to have it and that was Austria but the war Austria wanted was with Servia alone and neither Austria nor Germany seemed to believe that Russia would take up arms on Servia's behalf. The white book published by the British government containing England's diplomatic correspondence preceding the war shows pretty clearly how the thing came about.

No doubt Servian officials participated in the murder of Archduke Ferdinand but how far the whole people should be held responsible for this or for the general anti-Austrian agitation in Servia is more questionable. Servia was evidently a sharp thorn in Austria's side and Austria was determined to punish her severely. The ultimatum sent to Servia to be answered within two days was one which no independent self-respecting government could accept. It was drawn up for the purpose of bringing on war. Yet Servia (presumably under Russia's advice) actually accepted nearly all of its humiliating conditions but was unwilling to consent to having Austrian officers co-operating in the investigation and prosecution of Servian officers and subjects for acts done upon Servian territory. We should ourselves certainly refuse to permit any tribunal composed in part of foreigners to pass upon the guilt of Americans for acts done upon American soil. Yet even this condition, so injurious to her independence Servia offered to submit to the Hague tribunal. But Austria would have none of this. She declared the reply was insincere and declared war.

From the fact that Russia advised Servia to go so far in submitting to Austrian demands, it looks as if Russia at this stage of the proceedings did not desire an armed conflict. Doubtless this conciliation attitude encouraged Austria to believe that Russia would not take up arms for Servia. But in this Austria was mistaken. The Servians are a Slav people, kindred to the Russians over whom the Czar had assumed a protectorate and there was a strong popular feeling in Russia on their behalf, just as there had been a strong popular demand in Austria that the Servians should be punished. The beginning of this great war cannot be laid altogether to the interests or intrigues of the rulers. There were popular movements behind them at least in Austria and Russia.

In the earlier stages of the difficulty Germany might have prevented war by exerting strong pressure upon Austria to modify the terms of her ultimatum or to arbitrate, but this Germany was unwilling to do, probably believing that Russia would not intervene and also influenced no doubt by the controlling consideration that if she restrained Austria in a matter so close to the national feelings of the dual monarchy there would be a breach of confidence between her ally and herself and that she could not count on Austria's support when she needed it hereafter; in other words that the Triple Alliance would be broken. Italy was already a doubtful element in that alliance and Germany felt the need of supporting Austria under all circumstances. When Russia intervened was seen to be impending Germany did apparently endeavor to exert some mild form of persuasion upon Austria to modify her demands although she had previously refused the proposition of Sir Edward Grey for a conference of the other great powers in London with a view to mediation. She did, however, through medium of other powers try to prevent Russian intervention. But it was now too late. The Czar had already begun to mobilize his troops and Germany knew that unless she mobilized at once her best opportunity of defeating first France and then Russia would be gone so she sent a demand to Russia to recall the order of mobilization within 24 hours and an inquiry to France asking whether France would be neutral in event of a war with Russia and demanding an immediate answer. No satisfactory replies being recognized she began to mobilize and war was soon declared.

Now in all these proceedings it looks to me as if Austria were the real aggressor and that between Germany and Russia the responsibility for the war was pretty nearly equally divided. The necessity for quick action precipitated the war more than any deliberate purpose and Germany doubtless believed that if war must come it might as well come at once as at any later period. This seems to me a fair statement of the original causes of the struggle.

Charles E. Russell Tells How Volunteer Forces Saved Day for Refugee Relief Work.

WORK DONE AT THE HAGUE

Preparations Had Not Been Made for Clearing House of Two Countries When War Broke

(By United Press.)

New York, Oct. 3.—How a volunteer force of high paid specialists who gave their services without charge, saved the day for the United States refugee relief work at The Hague was related in detail here for the first time today. As a result of the efforts of these men a situation that might have greatly interfered with the relief of Americans in Germany was avoided. The story was told by Charles Edward Russell, who with Mrs. Russell spent three weeks assisting and have arrived here from Europe.

"The Hague" Russell said, "is the great clearing house between Germany and Austria and the outside world. When the war broke out its importance had not been considered by the federal government and Minister VanDyck and his little force of three paid employees found themselves confronted with a situation that called for energetic action. Thousands of Americans were in Germany and Austria. Thousands of the subjects of the warring nations were also there and when the British severed the German cable they made Holland the only possible clearing house.

"The legation staff was swamped from the outset. Refugees flocked into Holland and wanted to get home. Letters and telegrams poured into the legation actually by the basketful. Most of them had to be translated from English to German or from German to English for transmission. There were hundreds of demands that the legation locate missing people. And Minister VanDyck had no one to help him.

"Then it was that a volunteer force came to the front. First there was Alexander R. Culick, a New York lawyer whose income is well above $30,000 a year. Culick turned to and put into operation the most wonderful card index I have ever seen. He so arranged things that every communication received was indexed for reference on a moment's notice. Incidentally he is still on the ground, keeping up his work, although he has many important law cases in New York that demand his attention. But he felt that it was his patriotic duty to remain in Holland as long as he could be of service to his country.

"Charles H. Sherrell, another high priced man, took personal charge of all telegrams. He also put into effect a system whereby all messages were handled promptly and replies pushed through at once.

"Professor George Wilson of the Harvard Law School, one of the greatest American experts on international law also took a hand in the game. He became a sort of assistant minister and kept everyone advised on the legal questions that were constantly arising. As a matter of fact it was probably due to his keen insight into the perplexing legal problems always presented which prevented serious trouble.

"W. Murle Smith, Princeton graduate and Tersus VanDyck both of this city handled the financial matters. When I tell you that they paid out $6,000 in 3 weeks without a single error you can tell what good work they did. Mrs. Russell and myself acted as translators translating telegrams from German to English and vice versa."

Russell, who is a well known newspaperman is the socialist candidate for United States senator from this state. He declined to believe that it will be the last great war. In this connection he said:

"This war is purely a commercial conflict engendered by the trade rivalries of Germany and Great Britain. And when this is over the defeated party or parties will simply get busy preparing for the next time when they will try it all over again. The suggestions of Slav domination or of racial domination in any way is absurd. The business interests caused this war and so long as we have competition we will have the cause for war.

"Now take our case at The Hague. We gave our services free of charge and were glad to do so. It was co-operation, instead of competition. Had we been working for pay we would probably have scrapped like cats and dogs. But instead we worked in harmony.

"Until co-operation can be substituted for competition the suggestion that war is at an end is utterly absurd. The only hope that this war will end all wars is that the debts piled up by it will break the backs of the masses and then they will upset the present financial monopoly which alone benefits by the killing of men."

For First Time Two Big Pittsburgh Companies Are Entrenching at Expense of Employees

10 AND 8 PER CENT CUTS

(By United Press.)

Pittsburgh, Pa., Oct. 3.—For the first time, two big companies in the Pittsburgh industrial territory are today retrenching at the expense of their better paid employees. Those trying the plan are the Pittsburgh Coal company and the Westinghouse Electric & Mfg. Company and allied concerns.

In announcing the order, effective this week, it was stated that the employees were not held by contract and receiving more than a certain amount each month would have their returns for service reduced. In the case of the Pittsburgh Coal Company those drawing $100 per month or over are subject to the cut. The Westinghouse concerns did not make public the minimum salary affected, but made it plain that the order does not touch the laborer or shop worker.

Ten per cent and eight per cent are the respective reductions. "Depressed business conditions" is the reason given. The Carnegie Steel company has announced that it will not permit the wage agreement now in operation to renew itself at the first of next year.

Parents find them practical and economical. Permit us to amplify by saying that economy depends not alone on what you pay but also, and more especially on what you get in return.

Where is the economy in paying 48c for an ill fitting, uncomfortable garment for your boy or girl, when for 50c you can have perfect fitting, durable, comfortable MUNSINGWEAR?

The woman who buys an ordinary undergarment for 89c or 98c and finds it wholly unsatisfactory is surely short sighted, when she might have soft, warm, elastic, perfect-fitting MUNSINGWEAR for $1.00.
